Consumers Energy Seeks Grant to Support Smart Grid Project

Jackson, MI; Friday, October 16, 2009 – Consumers Energy's application for a $174 million federal grant to support development of its smart grid project and reduce costs for customers has cleared the first hurdle with the U.S. Department of Energy.

The Energy Department has $3.4 billion of funding available in the Smart Grid Investment Grant Program as part of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009. Consumers Energy's application advanced through the initial screening and is being reviewed by the department.

The company's application has received strong support from the state's congressional delegation, Gov. Jennifer Granholm, state lawmakers, the Michigan Public Service Commission and a number of local communities, including Grand Rapids and Jackson.

"This grant is important to Michigan because it will help create jobs and support the development and deployment of cutting edge technology in our state's energy infrastructure," said U.S. Sen. Debbie Stabenow. "Along with creating jobs, this technology will help keep Michigan competitive and ready for an economic recovery."

Stabenow and U.S. Rep. Mark Schauer visited Jackson today to tour Consumers Energy's Smart Services Learning Center, a full-size demonstration unit that shows how the smart grid technology will improve service and convenience for customers and help them save energy and save money.

"This new technology is very impressive. As we reshape our national energy policy, technology like this will be a key part of our new approach to using energy. With technology like this, we all will use less energy, which not only will save us money, but it also will provide some important environmental benefits," Stabenow said.

Schauer said the Consumers Energy project had strong support in Washington and in Michigan because of the benefits it will bring to customers.

"This smart grid technology will give customers new choices and detailed information that will help them save energy and save money. A key goal of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act was to encourage the development and deployment of new technology to help us use energy more efficiently. That's exactly what this project will do and why I and so many others at both the state and federal level have urged the Department of Energy to support it," Schauer said.

Schauer added that he is optimistic, even though there is stiff competition for the grants with utilities across the country submitting hundreds of applications.

Consumers Energy plans to invest about $900 million through 2015 in its smart grid program. A federal grant would reduce the amount that the company would seek to recover from customers for the project.

The new "smart grid" meters will provide Consumers Energy's 1.8 million electric customers with detailed information about their power usage, allowing them to make decisions about energy efficiency, conserving electricity during periods of high demand, and lowering their energy costs.

Consumers Energy also plans to add communication modules to the existing meters for its 1.7 million natural gas customers. That will allow the utility to provide more detailed information about energy usage to those customers, so they can make decisions about lowering their natural gas costs with energy efficiency steps.

The smart grid project is part of Consumers Energy's Growing Forward strategy, which calls for investing more than $6 billion in its utility operations over the next five years. Those investments will improve service to customers plus create jobs, boost the state's economy, and expand the state's tax base.

Consumers Energy, the principal subsidiary of CMS Energy (NYSE: CMS), provides natural gas and electricity to nearly 6.5 million of Michigan's 10 million residents in all 68 Lower Peninsula counties.

It's Official!

October is Right of Way Recognition Month

It's brand new, and will be celebrated annually: an international observance called Right of Way Recognition Month.

According to Mark Rieck of International, our Chapter was the first to obtain an official proclamation as part of the collaboration between International and chapters throughout North America. The very first official recognition came from the Mayor of the City of Ann Arbor, John Hieftje.

You might want to approach your city and do the same. Just call your Mayor's office and follow their procedure.

to our advertisers - we couldn't do it without you!

Mackinac Island provided two wonderful days for our Fall Education Seminar. Please note I am not referring to Friday. We really got a taste of true, island living on that day! Nevertheless we were spoiled with great weather on Wednesday and Thursday, fantastic presentations, and a wonderful dinner at the Grand Hotel. One of our new members Mike Kurschat was able to attend and wore an especially dazzling tie at dinner.

Thank you Alicia for all of your destination logistical help.

The Fall Region Forum took place on the 9th through the 11th of October in Wisconsin, and the Michigan Chapter 7 Motor Coach transported five (for a total of six) chapter members to Milwaukee. John Rolling did a fabulous job in organizing this very important forum for our Region which had a special conclusion involving a riverboat cruise with the famous Wisconsin "beer and brats." After a long day of meeting and discussing issues on Chapter, Region and International levels, this final riverboat gathering hit the spot for us to relax and have some informal networking.

- Several items that are being processed include:
- Newsletter distribution beyond membership,
  - Increase in advertisers,
  - Chapter meetings now apply toward designation recertification,
  - Distribution of Right of Way Magazine outside the membership,
  - Membership advancements
  - Membership assistance for meeting attendance.

In addition to gaining information for the refinement and advancement of our Chapter.

Jeff Jones is encouraging participation in education course offerings, including Practical Negotiations for Federal Funded Land Acquisitions, which kicks off the New Year on January 11, 2010 in Auburn Hills, MI. In addition, we have eight courses planned for 2010 and six more in 2011 and 2012. Add these to our scheduled General Membership education meetings and, as you can see, our Chapter provides extensive learning opportunities to our members – plus we have confirmed continuing education credits for appraisers!

Kim Tassen and Paul Sander have put together a 2010 schedule of meetings with high caliber presenters, and offered in interesting locations that you won't want to miss and will want to attend. Due to the realigned Administrative Year, the first scheduled 2010 General Membership Meeting is on March 11 at Cabela's in Dundee.

Until then, we have an outstanding line-up of presenters for our upcoming meeting on Thursday, November 12, 2009 – see page 1 for all the details.. I look forward to seeing all of you at Maggiano's Little Italy in Troy on November 12th!
